I have seen no problem with the way Microsoft conduct their business. However, I would like more e-mail security and less snooping about home computers. Snooping across the Internet by down loading someone's hard drive is a big problem. We know that snooping is carried on by Government and by Corporate America. They should stop it and only in extreme conditions would Government be allowed to snoop.

Companies like Enron should have never been allowed to get to the point of bankruptcy before their employees were notified one year in advance. And Enron top dogs should pay dearly for running lives. Al-Qaida has nothing on Enron top dogs!

Leave Bill Gates alone and spend prosecuting money & time on Enron...
